Welcome one and all to...

Sensational Mainstream Spankabilia!

...my first collective tribute to the rare but glorious genre that we call mainstream spankabilia! Since you've purchased this publication, you must be a fellow collector, someone who has a fond memory or two of a mainstream sighting that fired your passion for spanking, or maybe you're just someone curious enough about the subject to pick up this magazine and scan the pages.

By and large, I've tried to pick a variety of medias to ensure that you'll find something you like and limited my choices to reprints of good to moderate quality. But I hope you'll understand that some of the old cartoons and news photos I've picked exist in only poor, photocopy form. As every collector knows, mainstream spankabilia has become mainly a nostalgic passion due to changing societal winds, so the vast majority of items in existence date back at least thirty years. Some items in this collection are sixty years old, some newer, but I think they are all worthy to be included, and hope you'll agree and enjoy!

Featuring pages & pages of classic mainstream spankabilia reprints, behind the scenes insights, celebrity spanking gossip, and exciting articles including...

Famous director Cecil B. DeMille (above) spans star Paulette Goddard's seat on set of "Northwest Mounted Police" before filming movie's well-known spanking scene! (below)

The mysterious age of "Publicity Paddling" photos (including "Dear Brat" above and many others with spanking stills and NO spankings in the finished films) is explored!

Natalie Wood's "weird ways" were exposed in an article describing her desire to be spanked (as she is above!)... While "Mandrake" and other comic strip heroes took the time to teach spoiled brats and villainesses good old-fashioned lessons!
